

TRUSTEE WANTED

to join the Board of our successful charity, the Bawdsey Radar Trust.

Love history?

Fascinated by science?

Enjoy being part of something meaningful and slightly brilliant?

Our charity runs a museum dedicated to the story of radar – from its early beginnings through World War Two and into the modern world. It's a tale of invention, ingenuity determination and people who quietly changed everything.

We are looking for a Trustee to help guide the museum's future.

Your role

- to help steer the direction of the museum
- to support good decisions and good governance
- To champion history, science, education and the role of women
- To help keep the story alive for future generations.

You bring

- curiosity and commitment
- good judgement and common sense
- a love of learning and a bit of humour
- skills in leadership, finance, fund raising, education, heritage or governance (all great but not essential).

You get

- a meaningful role in a unique charity
- make a real impact
- board level experience
- the satisfaction of helping one of history's most powerful stories.

Tempted?
